Flexible and Reliable Workforce Solutions

A Small Business Story

When I opened up for business a few years ago, I thought HR functions would be pretty simple, but as the business began to grow, it became clear that I needed help with payroll and benefits administration so I could spend my time making business decisions and managing the staff. It was definitely time to bring in an HR generalist.

I tried to fill the position by placing an online ad but was flooded with candidates who didn't fit my needs or my budget. Fortunately, the folks at Grahall not only helped me fill the position with a temporary to help me get by in the meantime, but ultimately found a working Mom to fill a permanent part-time HR generalist function for me. She's happy with the flexible hours and I'm happy with the quality of her work. It couldn't have worked out better.

Not only did I find the right fit, but because Grahall has a staffing firm, consulting firm, and regulatory unit, I have access to accounting and compliance information when I need it. I'm also able to get advice on my rewards programs from time to time. We aren't big enough for a total rewards strategy or anything like that, but I know how much my plans cost, how they work, and what they're supposed to do. That gives me the confidence and time I need to run my business.
